Program/Cohort Comparison Report

The Program/Cohort Comparison Report provides a side-by-side comparison of results between two or more programs or cohorts of learners. The report is most often used to determine what, if any, differences exist between the two or more groups. Examples include comparing the results from different campus locations, program delivery modalities, or program concentrations. In the preview feature of Client Admin, you can select a specific topic to better understand differences between the cohorts' retained knowledge.

Gap Analysis Report

The Gap Analysis Report identifies potential learning gaps through a comparative analysis of topic and subject level data against one external benchmark, while summarizing program data over multiple exam periods.
